JUDGE TURPIN OPENS CIVIL COURT TO-DAY

JUDGE WILLIAM M. TURPIN.

Promptly at 10 o'clock this morning Judge William M. Turpin will open the first term of the new Civil Court in Room No. 5, on the third floor of the City Hall. His first official act yesterday was the appointment of Jos. M. Melvin as the bailiff of his court. The city ordinance fixing the salary of the new judge and his bailiff, and providing for the expenses of the court, has never passed the Council, although under a legislative enactment the salary of the judge is fixed at not less than $2,400. In order to accept the position, Judge Turpin resigned his membership in the Board of Aldermen after twenty-three years of continuous service as one of its most valued and trusted city officials. Judge Turpin attended the sessions of the Police Court yesterday and received the formal transfer of the civil docket of that court from the hands of Justice Crutchfield, who has heretofore held a special session on Fridays for the hearing of civil cases. High Constable Wyatt will be represented at the sessions by his deputy, Mr. John T. Nagle, who has been appointed clerk.

JAMES TAYLOR HELD FOR MURDER

James Arrington, Whom He Assaulted, Dies from Wounds and Careless Neglect.

James Taylor, colored, was called in Police Court yesterday morning to answer the charge of stabbing and assaulting James Arrington, but in view of the death of Arrington in the City Home a few hours earlier, the case was postponed to await the action of the coroner's jury. Arrington was set upon and wounded in Maggie Hicks's cook shop on West Broad Street several weeks ago. A private physician was called in to attend the man, but for some reason he failed to saw up all the slashes, and Arrington nearly died to death during the night. His condition was so bad the next morning that Dr. Eggleston of the city ambulance corps, was called in. He had the negro removed to the City Hospital. Dr. Eggleston was deputized by Coroner Taylor to conduct the inquest, and his verdict was that Arrington came to his death as the result of hemorrhage. Taylor will be charged with murder in Police Court this morning.

GOVERNOR SPEAKS

Congratulations. Howitzer, on Their March Through Valley. Governor Swannson paid an unofficial visit to the Howitzer at their army last night and made an informal speech, congratulating the command upon its recent march through the Valley of Virginia. It was regular drill night, and the attendance of the battery was large, and the man did not know that the Governor contemplated paying them a visit. The Governor spoke briefly, though in a most eloquent manner, praising the success of the march and complimenting the men for the manner in which the program was carried out. He was accorded a most enthusiastic reception.

Heavy Fine for Peddler. Joseph Codall was fined $100 in the Police Court yesterday morning on a charge of peddling freemasonry without a license. Codall is one of the hokey-pokey men taboed by Justice Crutchfield, who holds that they must get out licenses as other merchants. The case is now up on appeal in the higher court.

Mrs. Smith Improving. Mrs. Cadwallader G. Smith, who has been at St. Luke's Hospital for several days, was sent last night to have greatly improved.

SOMEBODY RUBS ALADDIN'S LAMP

Arthur L. Carson, Intended Fireman, Falls Heir to Vast Fortune in New York.

On the eve of his entrance into the Fire Department as a substitute member of Company No. 9, Arthur L. Carson received yesterday a letter from A. H. Zimmerman, of No. 132 "East Twenty-eighth Street, New York City, stating that he had fallen heir to $5,000,000, the property of his deceased uncle, Charles L. Carson, once a bar-keeper. Preparing as he was to become a member of the Fire Department at an impetuous salary, the young man was stunned with surprise when he learned that he had suddenly become a millionaire—provided all is true—and that he might enter the upper ten in knee breeches and silver buckles, or create a sinking fund for the Ice Mission. He was asked what he would do with so much money, but, not being able to realize the full extent of his supposed fortune, he was unable to reply. He has a mother, one brother and two sisters, and his first care will be for them, with new outfits for all and a brownstone front. He has decided to delay becoming a fire-fighter for Richmond, as it is possible that he may one day own a lot of property of his own, and be able to sit back and watch the firemen do their work, saving his houses, while he smokes a real Havana. The letter urges him to come to New York at once, and he will leave on Monday, to discover whether it is some myth or reality that has set his little world ablazing. Either the Fire Department will lose a valuable member and brave fighter, or Richmond's millionaire set will be increased by one—which is yet to be seen.

Meetings at City Hall. Calls have been issued for meetings of the Council Committee on Grounds and Buildings and on Printing and Claims for 7:30 P. M. to-morrow. A joint session of the two branches of the Council will be held at 8 o'clock to-morrow night.

Marriage Licenses. Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to the following: Thomas N. Curd and Carrie L. Rose; Henry W. Rogers, of Newport News, and Miss Iowa Bondurant; James Jefferson Pollard and Miss Sherrod Warren; and George A. Neiss and Miss Eva M. Neiss.

DROPPING WEATHER TO FIND COMFORT

Director Evans Explains Method of Estimating Possible July Record.

EXPECT FEW 99-DEGREE DAYS

Mercury May Reach 90 Degrees on Not Less Than Five or Not More Than Seventeen Days.

"When a record of observations of weather conditions has been made for a period of years," said Section Director Evans yesterday, "the averaging of any of its parts for the entire period—as temperature, for instance—results in a normal for that part. Thus, if twenty years' observations were available, and it was desired to ascertain the normal temperature for July, the average for the twenty years recorded would give it. The value of such a normal depends, of course, on the number of years' record used in obtaining it, so that the greater the period the better the normal. In this way the occasional departures from a true normal, due to excessively hot or cold, wet or dry weather, are smoothed down through a long series of years, and practically eliminated.

Possibility of Hot Days. "However undesirable periods of unseasonable weather may be when viewed from the standpoint of personal comfort, they are, nevertheless, very useful in determining the limitations of the climate of a place.

"To illustrate, if, during the hottest July on record at Richmond the highest temperature reached was 99 degrees, it would be reasonable to assume that the current July would not surpass it. Similarly the probabilities as to the lowest temperature, the greatest and least rainfall the current July would be arrived at.

"By this means one could, if desired, formulate a scheme of 'weather expectancy' for any month, and such a scheme for July would be expressed somewhat as follows: "The mean temperature will probably not be lower than 77 degrees nor higher than 81 degrees, while the highest and the lowest temperatures that will be reached are not likely to exceed 90 degrees and 57 degrees, respectively. There will be not less than five days with a maximum temperature of 90, or more degrees. Probably the number will exceed five, but it will not be more than seventeen.

Precipitation for July.

"The monthly rainfall will probably range between three inches and six and one-half inches. The heaviest rainfall on any one day will not exceed three and one-half inches, and rain may be expected to fall on about thirteen days in the month. With respect to sunshine, there will be an average of about 51 hours, and the possibility of amount, while thunderstorms are likely to occur on not less than four nor more than thirteen days. Seventy-eight per cent of humidity should prevail during the morning hours of the month. Of clear days there will be about eleven; of partly cloudy, four; of cloudy, six. The wind will be mostly from the south, and it is not probable that they will at any time exceed a rate of forty-five miles per hour.

"While it will be at once observed that such a statement of weather expectancy lacks definiteness and is, therefore, largely bereft of any practical value, it will, when based on data covering a long period of years, represent a reasonable probability, and will verify approximately, unless the month is an abnormal one."

DOYLE'S SALOON TO BE TORN DOWN

Broad Street Structure Regarded as Unsafe—Code Goes to City Attorney.

After a conference yesterday with Inspector Beck, W. J. Zimmerman, owner of the Doyle building, at Seventh and Broad Streets, which was thrown out of plumb by the fall of the corner chimney, and which was to be removed the structure at once. He will erect two new and modern store buildings on the corner. Zimmerman generally believed that the Doyle building is in a dangerous condition, and may collapse at any time. Mrs. Doyle has moved her belongings from the building, and the structure was busy yesterday getting out such of the bar fixtures as could be removed. The street is roped off out to the car tracks, both in Broad and Seventh Streets, and the police notify all who enter the lot so that at their own risk.

Chimney the Lone Support. Except for the heavy chimney on the east side, it is believed the building would fall. It is leaning perceptibly. Persons who remember Richmond before the war say the buildings on this corner were at that time. For at least fifty years there has been a liquor house on the corner.

Mr. Zimmerman purchased the Doyle and Custalio buildings about six years ago, when he planned to erect a modern hotel on the corner, a plan which he has since abandoned. The owner has the right of appeal to the Board of Safety, but action even in the case of appeal is immediate and automatic. The building is in court proceedings, which have formerly been the case. Since the creation of the office of Building Inspector, as it is, Beck has been working practically without an ordinance, and under his direction more unsafe buildings have been condemned and torn down in the past few months than before in the history of the city. Another Broad Street property owner received notice yesterday to make immediate repairs.

Code to City Attorney. The code, which has been approved by the Council Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform, was considered at length by the Finance Committee last night. Its main provisions meeting with approval, and it is so that the document may be presented to the Council Monday night.

Judgment for Animal Man. Judgment was rendered in the Law and Equity Court yesterday in the case of Frank C. Boston, the wild animal trainer, against the Richmond Amusement Corporation, proprietors of Idlewood, for $360.

CERTIFICATES UP ABOUT 40 POINTS

Advance Indicates That Public Believes Virginia Will Win Debt Suit.

EXPECT DECISION IN SPRING

Master's Hearing in Richmond Likely to Extend Over Period of Several Weeks.

Attorney-General William A. Anderson returned to the city yesterday from Washington, where he had a conference on Monday with Hon. Charles E. Littlefield, special master appointed by the United States Supreme Court to take the accounts in the suit of Virginia against West Virginia. Complicated by the two States at the conference with Mr. Littlefield were Major Anderson, Mr. Randolph Harrison and Major Holmes Conrad, representing Virginia, and Attorney-General Conley, John G. Carlisle, W. Mollohan, G. W. McAllister and Charles E. Hogg, representing West Virginia.

It was found that West Virginia would not be fully prepared to present the data and accounts, which are now being collated by the special accountants and counsel for that State before next fall. After fully hearing and considering the matter, the case, as heretofore announced in The Times-Dispatch, was set down for hearing before the master in Richmond on Tuesday, November 10th next.

May Sit Here for Weeks.

At that time it is expected that each side will be prepared to lay all the data, statements and accounts upon which it relies before the master. As there is a great mass of records, documents, acts of Assembly, reports of the Board of Public Work and of the Auditors and books of account to be considered, the hearing will occupy several weeks.

The inquiry, however, may be greatly abridged by agreement among counsel as to certain indisputable facts. At all events, it is expected that the case will go into the hands of Mr. Littlefield in November next, that the accounts he is directed to state will be completed and his report filed in the early part of the winter, so that the case can be submitted and decided during the spring of 1909.

It is a remarkable circumstance that these West Virginia certificates, which were selling a few years ago at from 5 to 6 cents, are now quoted at 45. This would seem to indicate that the public has strong confidence that the outcome of the case will be favorable to Virginia and her creditors.

PRESIDING ELDERS MEET

Colored Ministers to Consider Questions Affecting Welfare of Church.

A conference of the presiding elders of the Washington, Baltimore, Virginia and North Carolina conferences of the African Methodist Church opened last night in the Third Street Methodist Church (colored), about seventy-five presiding elders being present. Bishop J. C. Coffin, of Philadelphia, presided. The executive committee of the board of trustees of Kirtland College, in North Carolina, is also in attendance on the conference.

The conference will resume its sessions at 10 o'clock this morning, and will take up the question of establishing another African Methodist Church here.

Mr. Binford at Immanuel To-Night. Rev. T. H. Binford will conduct the mid-week prayer service at Immanuel Church to-night. Mr. Binford is a recent graduate of Richmond College, and is also regarded as an exceptionally good preacher.

Gould Case Continued. Cecil K. Gould, charged with obtaining $212.18 from the Jefferson Hotel under false pretenses, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday morning, but his case was continued to July 2nd.

STORIES FALSE, SAYS MONTAGUE

Former Governor Denies Report That He Will Quit Democratic Party.

Former Governor A. J. Montague returned to the city yesterday morning from Palmira, and a special correspondent in his office by a Times-Dispatch man, was quick to make a denial of the stories recently printed that he would stump the State for the Republican ticket and quit the Democratic party. Soon after his arrival, he dictated the following brief but direct statement on the subject:

"I will not take the stump for the Republican nominee or party. I intend to vote for the Democratic nominees. No Federal judgeship or any other Federal office has been offered or mentioned to me, and I have not applied for or discussed with anybody any such position.

"I do not know who originated these stories. They are unfounded. If I had known how widespread the rumor was, or how much it was discussed, I would have answered from Palmira, as I do here now.

"But I was much absorbed in an important and complicated case, and did not see the Richmond papers until last evening. I did not clearly grasp the meaning of the telephone or other messages sent me. I am a private citizen and did not comprehend how much disturbance I was innocently and unconsciously causing."

Friends Not Surprised. The friends of Mr. Montague received this ultimatum with much gratification, though not with much surprise, for most of them had contended all along that the former leader would not desert the colors under which he had won so many distinguished honors.

Mr. Montague appeared much fatigued, having been in court continuously for the past five days. In view of his statement given above, it is generally accepted as a fact that he does not contemplate forming any new political affiliations.

Organization's Plan Is to Protect Delinquent Child and Help Redeem Him.

TO WORK HERE AT PRESENT

Children's Courts to Be Established, Separate from Police Control.

Steps were taken yesterday to formally incorporate the Juvenile Protective Society of Virginia, a charter being secured from the Corporation Commission, which will enable it to undertake good work for the relief of dependent and delinquent children throughout the State, though at present the effort will be primarily for the children of the city of Richmond.

The charter gives the organization, or its authorized agents, authority to establish and maintain charitable institutions to take over the care of children who are under court jurisdiction, to organize a juvenile court in this and other cities, to procure legislation to provide for the removal from the juvenile criminal courts of the cases of wayward children in order to effect such reforms and the promoting of what the society is authorized to receive donations and bequests in money or property for the furtherance of its objects.

To Protect Delinquents.

Its purposes are set forth in the following: (a) to protect and train delinquent and dependent children of the State of Virginia; (b) a charitable institution or institutions for training and educating morally, intellectually, industrially and otherwise such delinquent and dependent children, together with such powers of commitment, custody, care and indutment, of such children as may be prescribed by the regulations and by-laws of the said corporation; (c) to accept and receive donations, devices or bequests from individuals, societies and corporations, and appropriations from municipal and State governments in the form of money or other property suitable for the promotion of the objects of this corporation; (d) to exercise all the general powers conferred by the laws of Virginia upon corporations of the same class formed under the aforesaid act or amendments thereof; and it is expressly provided that the foregoing clauses shall be literally construed both as to objects and powers, and that the enumeration of specific powers shall not be held to limit or restrict in any manner the general powers of the corporation given hereby or conferred by law.
